

Policies and procedures for collection of information (intelligence) for anti-doping purposes

Collection of Anti-Doping Intelligence

External Sources

- IFMA has made a link to the WADA Whistleblowing program through its website through the link <https://speakup.wada-ama.org/>
  - o Other sources of information that are available but have not been used
    - We could get from the IOC through the integrity hotline data www.olympic.org/integrityhotline.

Internal Sources

- Anonymous sources: IFMA has made a Whistleblowing program on its website through the link <http://www.muaythai.sport/whistle-blower-box/>
- Information received from Medical Commission, Athletes Commission, Ethics commission, Technical/Medical Delegates on-site

Open Source Information

- General information received through social media and press
- Athletes, athlete support personnel, sample collection personnel, national federations, other anti-doping organisations

IFMA is committed to ensuring that persons providing information can do so on a confidential basis.

Regardless of the source of information, IFMA ensures that the information is handled securely and confidentially, and in particular that any person receiving or having access to the information has agreed to the terms of IFMA's Confidentiality Policy.

Assessing of Anti-Doping Intelligence

IFMA assesses all information it receives concerning anti-doping matters to identify:

- The relevance of the information to the anti-doping activities carried out by IFMA, and/or to anti-doping activities carried out by another Anti-Doping Organisation
- The credibility of the information, by reference to the source of the information, the nature of the information itself, and whether the information is corroborated by other information held by IFMA, or is capable of corroboration by reference to information that may be held by another organization
- Whether the information should be shared with another organisation

Use and Sharing of Anti-Doping Intelligence

IFMA will use anti-doping intelligence to:

- assist in developing, reviewing and revising its Test Distribution Plan and/or in determining when to conduct Target Testing
- determine whether an anti-doping investigation should be initiated
- support or supplement an existing anti-doping investigation or existing anti-doping disciplinary proceedings

IFMA may, in addition to using anti-doping intelligence for its own purposes, share information with

- other Anti-Doping Organisations (if the information relates to Athletes or other Persons under their jurisdiction)
- WADA
- law enforcement and/or other relevant regulatory or disciplinary authorities (for example, if the intelligence suggests the possible commission of a crime or regulatory offence or breach of other rules of conduct)
- any organisation with an established integrity, investigation and intelligence operation, if IFMA has information that it believes may be relevant to that organisation's anti-doping program.

The sharing of anti-doping intelligence by IFMA will be undertaken in compliance with national data protection legislation, the provisions of the International Standard for the Protection of Privacy and Personal Information (ISPPPI), and where appropriate, pursuant to an Information Sharing Agreement entered into between IFMA and the recipient of the information.
