INTRODUCTION

This Policy defines commitments of the International Federation of Muaythai Associations (IFMA) to support a safe and enjoyable environment throughout IFMA events and daily operation of the international federation, that safeguard welfare of athletes and IFMA family members from any kind of discrimination, harassment and abuse.

The IFMA Safeguarding Policy reflects the commitment of IFMA Constitution Article II that all members of the IFMA family do not face discrimination of any kind such as race, ethnicity, skin-tone, gender, sexual orientation, language, religion, political or other opinion, national or social origin, property, birth or other status.

For IFMA safeguarding refers to all of the actions IFMA takes to keep all children and vulnerable at risk groups they come into contact with safe – and includes the proactive measures put in place to ensure they do not come to harm as a result of any direct or indirect contact with the federation. Child safeguarding encompasses the prevention of physical, verbal, sexual and emotional abuse, neglect and maltreatment of children by employees and other persons whom the federation is responsible for, including contractors, business partners, visitors to premises and volunteers. As abuse occurs in many different forms, IFMA has a zero-tolerance policy stating that no abuse or cause of harm towards children and vulnerable groups is tolerated in any form. IFMA states that all children have an equal right to protection regardless of any personal characteristic, including their age, gender, ability, culture, racial origin, religious belief and sexual identity. It is also important to note that certain forms of abuse disproportionately affect girls, and there is additional vulnerability and increased risk for children who have a physical or mental disability, lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, intersex or other identified young people, children from minority ethnic groups, displaced or refugee children, and those who are under institutional care.

GOAL OF THE POLICY

This Policy states the commitment of IFMA:

- to improve health and wellbeing by supporting people to get active;
- to protect athletes, supporters of Muaythai and entourage;
- to provide parents, staff and volunteers with the overarching principles that guide our approach to vulnerable group protection;

Whilst working towards this vision and achieving these aims, IFMA recognises the importance of establishing and maintaining an environment in which children, young people and adults are protected from harm of any kind.

IFMA operates within a broad partnership of organisations, groups and individuals, working jointly to achieve our aims for sport and physical activity, therefore expecting all members and partners who work with and for us to address safeguarding as a mandatory requirement of their working agreement with us.

IFMA recommends that its partners:

- Commit to a similar policy and procedures for their own use;
- Develop their understanding of the importance of safeguarding in providing a safe, enjoyable and beneficial experience in sport;
- Take their own actions to promote safeguarding through the services they deliver;
- Work with IFMA and its other partners to develop a powerful unified voice for safeguarding in sport across the world of sports.

RECOGNIZING AND RESPONDING TO ABUSE.

Child or Young person. For the purpose of this Safeguarding Policy any person under the age of 18 years will be considered a Child or Young person.

Adult at Risk. IFMA defines an Adult at Risk as “any person aged 18 years or over who may be in vulnerable circumstances and at risk from a range of abuse or neglect. They are or may be eligible for additional care support and services, and therefore may not be able to take care of themselves or protect themselves from harm or exploitation.

Vulnerable Child. A child under the age of 18 who are at risk of, or who are already experiencing, social and emotional problems. Vulnerability may be linked to disadvantage and poverty. Vulnerable children include those who are exposed to parental drug and alcohol problems, parental mental health problems, family relationship problems, including domestic violence and criminality. Vulnerable children may also include those who are in a single parent family or who were born to mothers aged under 18, with a low educational attainment or who are (or were as children) looked after (that is, they have been in the care system)

Additional Vulnerability. Children with additional needs and disabilities may be especially vulnerable to abuse for a number of reasons:

- They have an increased likelihood of being socially isolated with fewer outside contacts;
- They are likely to be more dependent on parents and carers for practical assistance in daily living, including intimate personal care, which increases their risk of exposure to abusive behavior;
- They have an impaired capacity to resist or avoid abuse;

- They may have speech, language and communication needs, which may make it difficult to tell others what is happening;
- They often do not have access to someone they can trust to disclose that they are being abused;
- They are especially vulnerable to bullying, intimidation and hate crimes.

WHAT IS ABUSE?

Abuse is a description of the ways in which individuals harm children and young people, often by those who they know and trust.

Abuse can occur within or outside of IFMA settings. It is therefore crucial that all allegations and suspicions are treated seriously and appropriate actions taken. An environment that explicitly attempts to identify and report possible abuse or poor practice helps create a safer culture for children and young people.

Within Muaythai Children or Adults at Risk may be abused by:

- A teammate;
- A coach;
- A team doctor;
- An official;
- People working or volunteering in organisational or community settings;

Outside Muaythai Children or Adults at Risk may be abused by:

- Family members;
- Friends;
- People they know;
- Less commonly, by strangers.

HOW TO RESPOND IF YOU BECAME AWARE OF RECENT OR PAST ABUSE?

If you're worried that a child or young person is at risk or is being abused or had been abused in the past contact the IFMA Safeguarding Officer or follow "Concern Reporting Action Plan" represented in this Policy.

You'll be asked for your details, but you can choose not to share them.

What to report

Child abuse includes physical, sexual and emotional abuse, and neglect. You can read more about the "Main types of abuse and other categories of concern" Chapter in this Policy.

You don't need to be sure that a child or young person has been abused - it's OK to report a suspicion.

What happens when you report it

The IFMA Safeguarding Officer will decide what to do. For example, the following actions can be taken:

- Proceed with gathering more information
- ask competent medical/social services to render further support of abused person
- contact the police, if the child is at immediate risk or a crime has been committed
- start an internal investigation procedure

MAIN TYPES OF ABUSE & OTHER CATEGORIES OF CONCERN

Main types of abuse

Physical Abuse. This occurs when individuals including other children/young people, deliberately inflict injuries on a child or young person, or knowingly do not prevent such injuries. It includes injuries caused by hitting, shaking, squeezing, biting or using excessive force. It also occurs when children/young people are given alcohol, or inappropriate drugs, or there is a failure to supervise their access to these substances.

Emotional abuse. This occurs when individuals persistently fail to show children and young people due care with regard to their emotional welfare, when a young person may be constantly shouted at, threatened or taunted, or be subjected to sarcasm and unrealistic pressures. There may also be over protection, preventing children and young people from socialising, or bullying to perform to high expectations. The child/young person may lose self-confidence and may become withdrawn and nervous.

Neglect. This occurs when a child/young person's essential needs for food, warmth and care, both physical and emotional are not met.

Sexual Abuse. Girls or boys can be abused by adults, (both male and female), or other young people. This may include encouraging or forcing a child or young person to take part in sexual activity, inappropriate touching of a young person or the taking of inappropriate photographs and includes any physical contact a youth regards as beyond their comfort zone.

Bullying. Bullying is not always easy to define and will not always be adult to adult, or face to face. It is often the case that the bully is a young person. Bullying can be defined as the use of aggression with the intention of hurting another person. Bullying results in pain and distress to the victim. Bullying can include online as well as offline behavior. Bullying can be:

- Emotional - being unfriendly, excluding, tormenting (e.g. hiding kit, threatening gestures), aggressive;
- Physical - pushing, kicking, hitting, punching or any use of violence;

- Racist - racial taunts, graffiti, gestures;
- Sexual - unwanted physical contact or sexually abusive comments;
- Homophobic - because of, or focusing on the issue of sexuality;
- Verbal - name-calling, sarcasm, spreading rumors, teasing;
- Cyber – using online platforms such as social media to follow, taunt, make unwanted contact and comments.

Child trafficking. Child trafficking or modern slavery are child abuse.

Trafficking is where children and young people tricked, forced or persuaded to leave their homes and are moved or transported and then exploited, forced to work or sold.

Other categories of concern

Emotional/Psychological Abuse. This includes emotional abuse, threats, deprivation of contact, humiliation, intimidation, coercion, verbal abuse, isolation or withdrawal of services.

Financial Abuse. The use of a person's property, assets, income, funds or other resources, without their informed consent and authorisation. It can include theft, fraud, exploitation, pressure to use resources in connection with wills, property, inheritance or other financial transactions, misuse of an enduring or lasting power of attorney.

Institutional Abuse. The mistreatment, abuse or neglect of an adult at risk by a regime or individuals within which/by whom the person is living or using services. The environment, operations or routines of the institution violate the person's dignity and potentially their Human Rights.

Discrimination. This form of abuse may occur alone or with any other form and is characterised by a focus on any protected characteristic. It is important to remember that the perpetrators of abuse are often those closest to the person (eg. carers or family members). For those Adults at Risk who depend on others for their personal care, this can increase their vulnerability to abuse.

Female genital mutilation. Female genital mutilation (FGM) is the partial or total removal of external female genitalia for non-medical reasons. It's also known as female circumcision or cutting. Religious, social or cultural reasons are sometimes given for FGM. However, FGM is child abuse. It's dangerous and a criminal offence. There are no medical reasons to carry out FGM.

Radicalisation. Radicalisation is the way a person comes to support or be involved in extremism and terrorism. It's a gradual process so young people who are affected may not realise what's happening.

Grooming. Grooming is "a process by which a person prepares a child, significant adults and the environment for the abuse of the child" Grooming can happen anywhere, including online, in organisations, in public spaces (also known as street grooming).

Hazing. Hazing is any ritual, initiation activity, action or situation, with or without consent, which recklessly, intentionally or unintentionally endangers the physical or emotional well-being of Vulnerable Groups.

Poor practice. Poor practice is behaviour that falls short of abuse but is nevertheless unacceptable. It is essential that poor practice is challenged and reported even where there is a belief that the motives of an individual are well meaning. Failure to challenge poor practice can lead to an environment where abuse is more likely to remain unnoticed. Incidents of poor practice occur when the needs of Vulnerable Groups are not afforded the necessary priority compromising their welfare, for example, allowing abusive or concerning practices to go unreported, placing Vulnerable Groups in potentially compromising and uncomfortable situations, failing to ensure the safety of Vulnerable Groups, ignoring health and safety guidelines, giving continued and unnecessary preferential treatment to individuals.

There are other areas of abuse: child sexual exploitation, honour based violence, forced marriage. We should also be aware that of abuse linked to domestic violence and parental substance misuse (alcohol and drugs) and mental health.

SOCIAL MEDIA AND ONLINE SAFETY.

While the internet is often a positive part of children's lives, young people can be vulnerable to abuse and inappropriate content in the online world. To combat that IFMA has identified existing risks and developed a guideline to be applicable during federation's daily routine and its events.

Online abuse

Online abuse is any type of abuse that happens on the internet, facilitated through technology like computers, tablets, mobile phones and other internet-enabled devices. It can happen anywhere online that allows digital communication, such as:

- Social networks
- Text messages and messaging apps
- Email and private messaging
- Online chats
- Comments on live streaming sites
- Voice chat in games.

Online risks

1. Content

Age-inappropriate content that a child may come across online could be:

- Commercial – such as adverts, spam or sponsorship
- Aggressive – such as violent and hateful content
- Sexual – inappropriate or unwelcome sexual content
- Content that promotes negative values – for example biased, racist or misleading information.

2. Contact

If a child is actively engaged in the online world, they may become involved in interactions that could be harmful to them. This could be:

- Commercial – such as tracking the sites a child has looked at or harvesting their personal information

- Aggressive – for example being bullied, harassed or stalked
- Sexual – receiving sexualised requests from others or being groomed
- Contacts who promote negative values – for example making ‘friends’ who persuade a child to carry out harmful activities.

3. Conduct

Without meaning to, a child may behave in a way that puts them and/or others at risk. For example they may become involved in:

- Inappropriate commercial activity - illegal downloading, hacking, using the dark web or getting involved in financial scams
- Aggressive behaviour – bullying or harassing someone else
- Sexualised behaviour – creating or uploading indecent images
- Creating content that promotes negative values – providing misleading information to others

Vulnerability factors

Age

Pre- and early teens are an especially vulnerable age for children online. From 11-12, children start to explore and take risks online, but they haven't yet developed the skills needed to recognise danger or build resilience against things that might upset them.

Children aged 9-16 are particularly vulnerable to:

- Seeing sexual images online
- Seeing online content that promotes potentially harmful behaviour, such as pro-anorexia or self-harm sites
- Being bullied online.

At this age, young people may be starting to explore their sexuality too. They might find adult pornography online or start online relationships with people they don't know.

Gender

Boys and girls may differ in the types of risks they take online and the risks they are exposed to.

Boys are more likely to:

- Look for offensive or violent pornography online, or be sent links to pornographic websites
- Meet someone offline who they have talked to online
- Give out personal information.

Girls are more likely to:

- Be upset by violent or offensive online pornographic content
- Chat online with people they don't know
- Receive unwanted sexual comments
- Be asked for personal information

Recognising online abuse

Children can be at risk of online abuse from people they know as well as from strangers. Online abuse may be part of abuse that's taking place in the real world such as bullying or an abusive relationship. Or the abuse may happen online only.

A child who is experiencing abuse online may:

- spend much more or much less time than usual online, texting, gaming or using social media
- be withdrawn, upset or outraged after using the internet or texting
- be secretive about who they're talking to and what they're doing online or on their mobile phone
- have lots of new phone numbers, texts or e-mail addresses on their mobile phone, laptop or tablet.

Responding to online abuse

In order to prevent social media misuse and online abuse during at IFMA we developed Online Safety Policy Statement and Online Safety Agreement.

Everyone who works, volunteers or participates in IFMA events should read and understand these documents.

ONLINE SAFETY POLICY STATEMENT

IFMA works with children and families as part of its activities. These include: organizing Muaythai competitions online and offline as well as various educational and training events.

The purpose of this policy statement is to:

- ensure the safety and wellbeing of children and young people is paramount when adults, young people or children are using the internet, social media or mobile devices

- provide staff and volunteers with the overarching principles that guide our approach to online safety ensure that, as an organisation, we operate in line with our values and within the law in terms of how we use online devices. The policy statement applies to all staff, volunteers, children and young people and anyone involved in [name of group/organisation]'s activities.

We believe that:

- children and young people should never experience abuse of any kind

children should be able to use the internet for education and personal development, but safeguards need to be in place to ensure they are kept safe at all times.

We recognise that:

- the online world provides everyone with many opportunities; however it can also present risks and challenges

- we have a duty to ensure that all children, young people and adults involved in our organisation are protected from potential harm online

- we have a responsibility to help keep children and young people safe online, whether or not they are using [name of organisation]'s network and devices

- all children, regardless of age, disability, gender reassignment, race, religion or belief, sex or sexual orientation, have the right to equal protection from all types of harm or abuse
- working in partnership with children, young people, their parents, carers and other agencies is essential in promoting young people's welfare and in helping young people to be responsible in their approach to online safety.

We will seek to keep children and young people safe by:

- appointing an online safety coordinator [this may or may not be the same person as your nominated child protection lead]
- providing clear and specific directions to staff and volunteers on how to behave online through our behaviour code for adults
- supporting and encouraging the young people using our service to use the internet, social media and mobile phones in a way that keeps them safe and shows respect for others
- supporting and encouraging parents and carers to do what they can to keep their children safe online

- providing supervision, support and training for staff and volunteers about online safety
- examining and risk assessing any social media platforms and new technologies before they are used within the organisation.

If online abuse occurs, we will respond to it by:

- having clear and robust safeguarding procedures in place for responding to abuse (including online abuse)
- providing support and training for all staff and volunteers on dealing with all forms of abuse, including bullying/cyberbullying, emotional abuse, sexting, sexual abuse and sexual exploitation
- making sure our response takes the needs of the person experiencing abuse, any bystanders and our organisation as a whole into account
- reviewing the plan developed to address online abuse at regular intervals, in order to ensure that any problems have been resolved in the long term.

DEALING WITH DISCLOSURE

Disclosure is the process by which Children or Adults at Risk start to share their experiences of abuse with others. This can take place over a long period of time, not as one act or action.

How disclosure happens?

Children or Adults at Risk may disclose abuse in a variety of ways, including:

- directly– making specific verbal statements about what’s happened to them;
- indirectly – making ambiguous verbal statements which suggest something is wrong
- behaviourally – displaying behaviour that signals something is wrong (this may or may not be deliberate)
- non-verbally – writing letters, drawing pictures or trying to communicate in other ways.

Sometimes Children or Adults at Risk make partial disclosures of abuse. This means they give some details about what they’ve experienced, but not the whole picture. They may withhold some information because of:

- fear that they will get in trouble with or upset their family;
- wanting to deflect blame in case of family difficulties as a result of the disclosure;
- feelings of shame and guilt.

Barriers to disclosure

Some Children or Adults at Risk are reluctant to seek help because they feel they don’t have anyone to turn to for support.

They may have sought help in the past and had a negative experience, which makes them unlikely to do so again. They may also:

- feel that they will not be taken seriously;
- feel too embarrassed to talk to an adult about a private or personal problem;
- worry about confidentiality;

- lack trust in the people around them (including parents) and in the services provided to help them;
- fear the consequences of asking for help;
- worry they will be causing trouble and making the situation worse;
- find formal procedures overwhelming.

Responding to disclosure

Three key interpersonal skills that help a child or Adult at Risk feel they are being listened to and taken seriously:

- show you care, help them disclose information: Give your full attention to the child or young person and keep your body language open and encouraging. Be compassionate, be understanding and reassure them their feelings are important. Phrases such as “you’ve shown such courage today”.
- take your time, slow down: Respect pauses and don’t interrupt the child – let them go at their own pace. Recognise and respond to their body language. And remember that it may take several conversations for them to share what’s happened to them.
- show you understand, reflect back: Make it clear you’re interested in what the child is telling you. Reflect back what they’ve said to check your understanding – and use their language to show it’s their experience.

Tips to remember when disclosure happens

When disclosure happens:

- Try to remember the words victim used in describing the abuse.
- Take notes if possible and if comfortable for the person. Keep these notes. They may be useful in case police starts the investigation.

REPORTING A CONCERN OR POSSIBLE ABUSE

All behavior that contravenes the obligations of this policy must be reported immediately to the IFMA Safeguarding Officer. For certain types of harm, the relevant state authorities shall also be notified. Follow the Concern reporting action plan presented below.

Where there is a Concern related to the welfare of a Child or Adult at Risk.

- If the person is in immediate danger or has been physically injured ensure they are safe and contact Police or adult social care (social services);
- If the person is not in immediate danger but you have concerns, discuss your concerns with them and determine the person's capacity and support required in reporting the abuse, or separately raise an anonymous report of concern through IFMA Whistle-Blowing mechanism.
- Complete Incident Reporting Form.

Under no circumstances should you conduct your own investigation process.

It is not your responsibility to decide if a situation is abusive or poor practice.

But it is your responsibility to report your concerns to the Safeguarding Officer.

Concern reporting action plan

A concern has been raised about well-being of a child or Adult at Risk
(You become aware of Abuse or suspect Abuse is taking place)

CONFIDENTIALITY

Every effort must be made to ensure that confidentiality is maintained when an allegation has been made and is being investigated. Only individuals who need to know and can help to manage the concern must be involved or informed about the Concern.

Confidentiality is essential and if maintained will ensure:

- the safety of the child or adult at risk involved;
- that action is taken to protect the child or adult at risk;
- that individuals involved in any complaint are protected from gossip and assumptions;
- individuals who have a complaint against them receive fair treatment, without prejudice or pre-judgment;
- all policies, procedures and systems can work to manage any situation quickly, professionally and effectively.

IF YOU HAVE AN ALLEGATION MADE AGAINST YOU

- Any concerns involving the inappropriate behavior of an adult towards a child or young person will be taken seriously and investigated;
- If you are the person who is the center of an allegation the situation will be explained to you and you may be asked to stop working with children or young people in IFMA;
- This may result in suspension from activity within IFMA whilst a full investigation is carried out. This is to protect all parties involved until such time a verdict is reached.

Annex 1. DEFINITIONS AND SIGNS OF ABUSE.

General signs of abuse

Children or Adults at Risk who suffer abuse may be afraid to tell anybody about the abuse. They may struggle with feelings of guilt, shame or confusion – particularly if the abuser is a parent, caregiver or other close family member or friend.

- Regular flinching in response to sudden but harmless actions, for example someone raising a hand quickly;
- Showing an inexplicable fear of particular places or making excuses to avoid particular people;
- Knowledge of “adult issues” for example alcohol, drugs and/or sexual behaviour which is inappropriate for their age or stage of development;
- Angry outbursts or behaving aggressively towards other children, adults, animals;
- Becoming withdrawn or appearing anxious, clingy or depressed;
- Self-harming or thoughts about suicide;
- In older children, risky behaviour such as substance misuse or criminal activity;
- Running away or regularly going missing from home or care;

Physical abuse. Physical abuse happens when a child or Adult at Risk is deliberately hurt, causing injuries such as cuts, bruises, burns and broken bones. It can involve hitting, kicking, shaking, throwing, poisoning, burning or suffocating. It's also physical abuse if a parent or carer makes up or causes the symptoms of illness in children. For example, they may give them medicine they don't need, making them unwell. This is known as fabricated or induced illness (FII).

Spotting the signs of physical abuse.

Injuries that are more likely to indicate physical abuse include:

- bruises on the cheeks, ears, palms, arms and feet;
- bruises on the back, buttocks, tummy, hips and backs of legs;
- multiple bruises in clusters, usually on the upper arms or outer thighs;
- bruising which looks like it has been caused by fingers, a hand or an object, like a belt or shoe;

- large oval-shaped bite marks. Burns or scalds;
- any burns which have a clear shape of an object, for example cigarette burns;
- burns to the backs of hands, feet, legs, genitals or buttocks.

Other signs of physical abuse include multiple injuries (such as bruising, fractures) inflicted at different times. If a child is frequently injured, and if the bruises or injuries are unexplained or the explanation doesn't match the injury, this should be investigated. It's also concerning if there is a delay in seeking medical help for a child who has been injured.

Emotional abuse. Emotional abuse is any act or other treatment that may cause emotional damage and undermine a person's well-being.

It involves:

- humiliating, putting down or constantly criticising a child
- shouting at or threatening a child
- mocking a child or making them perform degrading acts
- constantly blaming or scapegoating a child for things which are not their fault
- trying to control a child's life and not recognising their individuality
- not allowing them to have friends or develop socially
- pushing a child too hard or not recognising their limitations
- manipulating a child
- exposing a child to distressing events or interactions such as drug taking, heavy drinking or domestic abuse
- persistently ignoring them
- being cold and emotionally unavailable during interactions with a child
- never saying anything kind, positive or encouraging to a child and failing to praise their achievements and successes.

Spotting the signs of emotional abuse

There aren't usually any obvious physical signs of emotional abuse, but you may spot signs in a child's actions or emotions. It's important to remember that some children are naturally quiet and self-contained whilst others are more open and affectionate. Mood swings and challenging behaviour are also a normal part of growing up for teenagers and children going through puberty. Be alert to behaviours which appear to be out of character for the individual child or are particularly unusual for their stage of development.

Older children may:

- use language, act in a way or know about things that you wouldn't expect for their age
- struggle to control strong emotions or have extreme outbursts
- seem isolated from their parents
- lack social skills or have few, if any, friends
- fear making mistakes
- fear their parent being approached regarding their behaviour
- self-harm.

Domestic abuse. Domestic abuse is any type of controlling, bullying, threatening or violent behaviour between people who are or were in an intimate relationship.

Domestic abuse can happen in any relationship regardless of age, sexuality, gender identity, race or religious identity. Children's exposure to domestic abuse between parents and carers is child abuse. Children can be directly involved in incidents of domestic abuse or they may be harmed by seeing or hearing abuse happening. The developmental and behavioural impact of witnessing domestic abuse is similar to experiencing direct abuse. Children in homes where there is domestic abuse are also at risk of other types of abuse or neglect.

Spotting the signs of domestic abuse

It can be difficult to tell if domestic abuse is happening, because it usually takes place in the family home and abusers can act very differently when other people are around. Children who witness domestic abuse may:

- become aggressive;
- display anti-social behavior;
- suffer from depression or anxiety;

- not do as well at school - due to difficulties at home or disruption of moving to and from refuges.

Sexual abuse. Sexual abuse is forcing or enticing a child to take part in sexual activities. It doesn't necessarily involve violence and the child may not be aware that what is happening is abuse. Child sexual abuse can involve contact abuse and/or non-contact abuse. Contact abuse happens when the abuser makes physical contact with the child.

It includes:

- sexual touching of any part of the body whether the child is wearing clothes or not rape or penetration by putting an object or body part inside a child's private parts of the body;
- forcing or encouraging a child to take part in sexual activity;
- making a child take their clothes off, touch someone else's private parts;

Non-contact abuse involves non-touching activities and includes:

- encouraging a child to watch or hear sexual acts;
- not taking proper measures to prevent a child being exposed to sexual activities by others;
- showing explicit content video or pictures a child;
- making, viewing or distributing child abuse images;
- allowing someone else to make, view or distribute child abuse images;

Cyber sexual abuse includes:

- persuading or forcing a child to send or post sexually explicit images of themselves;
- persuading or forcing a child to take part in sexual activities via a webcam or smartphone;
- having sexual conversations with a child by text or online;
- meeting a child following online sexual grooming with the intent of abusing them.

Abusers will often try to build an emotional connection with a child in order to gain their trust for the purposes of sexual abuse. This is known as grooming.

Spotting the signs of sexual abuse

There may be physical signs that a child has suffered sexual abuse. These include:

- bruising or bleeding near the genital area;
- discomfort when walking or sitting down;

- an unusual discharge;
- sexually transmitted infections (STI);
- pregnancy.

Changes in the child's mood or behaviour may also cause concern. They may want to avoid spending time with specific people. In particular, the child may show sexual behaviour that is inappropriate for their age.

Harmful sexual behaviour (HSB)

HSB can include:

- using sexually explicit words and phrases;
- inappropriate touching;
- using sexual violence or threats;
- Sexual behaviour between children is also considered harmful if 1 of the children is much older – particularly if there is more than 2 years' difference in age or if 1 of the children is pre-pubescent and the other isn't.

However, a younger child can abuse an older child, particularly if they have power over them – for example, if the older child is disabled.

Neglect. Neglect is persistently failing to meet a child's basic physical and/or psychological needs usually resulting in serious damage to their health and development. Neglect is the most common type of child abuse. It often happens at the same time as other types of abuse.

Neglect may involve a parent's or carer's failure to:

- provide adequate food, clothing or shelter;
- supervise a child (including leaving them with unsuitable carers) or keep them safe from harm or danger;
- make sure the child receives appropriate health and/or dental care;
- make sure the child receives a suitable education.

Spotting the signs of neglect

Neglect can be difficult to identify. Isolated signs may not mean that a child is suffering neglect, but multiple and persistent signs over time could indicate a serious problem.

Some of these signs include:

- Children who appear hungry;
- Children who appear dirty or smelly and whose clothes are unwashed or inadequate for the weather conditions;
- Children who fail to thrive or who have untreated injuries, health or dental problems;
- Children with poor language, communication or social skills for their stage of development;
- Children who live in an unsuitable home environment;
- Children who have taken on the role of carer for other family members.

Bullying and cyberbullying. Bullying is behaviour that hurts someone else. It usually happens over a lengthy period of time and can harm a child both physically and emotionally. Bullying includes:

- verbal abuse, such as name calling;
- non-verbal abuse, such as hand signs or glaring;
- emotional abuse, such as threatening, intimidating or humiliating someone;
- exclusion, such as ignoring or isolating someone;
- undermining, by constant criticism or spreading rumors;
- controlling or manipulating someone;
- racial, sexual or homophobic bullying;
- physical assaults, such as hitting and pushing;
- making silent, hoax or abusive calls.

When bullying happens online it can involve social networks, games and mobile devices.

Online bullying can also be known as cyberbullying. Cyberbullying includes:

- sending threatening or abusive text messages;
- creating and sharing embarrassing images or videos;

- 'trolling' - sending menacing or upsetting messages on social networks, chat rooms or online games;
- excluding children from online games, activities or friendship groups;
- setting up hate sites or groups about a particular child;
- encouraging young people to self-harm;
- voting for or against someone in an abusive poll;
- creating fake accounts, hijacking or stealing online identities to embarrass a young person or cause trouble using their name.

Spotting the signs of bullying and cyberbullying

It can be hard to know whether or not a child is being bullied. The general signs of bullying may be the following:

- belongings getting 'lost' or damaged;
- physical injuries such as unexplained bruises;
- being afraid to go to school/training or skipping it;
- not doing as well at school/training;
- asking for, or stealing, money (to give to a bully);
- being nervous, losing confidence or becoming distressed and withdrawn;
- problems with eating or sleeping;
- bullying others.

Female genital mutilation. Female genital mutilation (FGM) is the partial or total removal of external female genitalia for non-medical reasons. It's also known as female circumcision or cutting. Religious, social or cultural reasons are sometimes given for FGM. However, FGM is child abuse. It's dangerous and a criminal offence. There are no medical reasons to carry out FGM.

Spotting the signs of female genital mutilation

A girl at immediate risk of FGM may not know what's going to happen. But she might talk about or you may become aware of:

- a long holiday abroad or going 'home' to visit family;

- relative or cutter visiting from abroad;
- a special occasion or ceremony to 'become a woman' or get ready for marriage;
- a female relative being cut – a sister, cousin or an older female relative such as a mother or aunt;
- missing school/training repeatedly or running away from home.

A girl who has had FGM may:

- have difficulty walking, standing or sitting;
- spend longer in the bathroom or toilet;
- appear withdrawn, anxious or depressed;
- have unusual behaviour after an absence from school/training;
- be particularly reluctant to undergo normal medical examinations;

Radicalisation is the way a person comes to support or be involved in extremism and terrorism. It's a gradual process so young people who are affected may not realise what's happening. The process may involve:

- being groomed online or in person;
- exploitation, including sexual exploitation;
- psychological manipulation;
- exposure to violent material and other inappropriate information;
- the risk of physical harm or death through extremist acts.

Recognising radicalisation

Indicators that a child is being radicalised include:

- becoming disrespectful and intolerant of others;
- becoming more angry;
- avoiding discussions about their views;
- using words and phrases that sound scripted;
- becoming isolated and secretive;
- not wanting to anyone else to know what they are looking at online.

Child trafficking. Child trafficking or modern slavery are child abuse. Trafficking is where children and young people tricked, forced or persuaded to leave their homes and are moved or transported and then exploited, forced to work or sold. Children are trafficked for:

- Sexual exploitation
- Benefit fraud
- Forced marriage
- Domestic slavery like cleaning, cooking and childcare
- Forced labour in factories or agriculture
- Committing crimes (begging, theft, working on cannabis farms or moving drugs).

Trafficked children experience many types of abuse and neglect. Traffickers use physical, sexual and emotional abuse as a form of control. Children and young people are also likely to be physically and emotionally neglected and may be sexually exploited.

Spotting the signs of child trafficking

It may not be obvious that a child has been trafficked but you might notice unusual or unexpected things. They might:

- spend a lot of time doing household chores
- rarely leave their house or have no time for playing
- be orphaned or living apart from their family
- live in low-standard accommodation
- be unsure which country, city or town they're in
- can't or are reluctant to share personal information or where they live
- not be registered with a school or a GP practice
- have no access to their parents or guardians
- be seen in inappropriate places like brothels or factories
- have money or things you wouldn't expect them to
- have injuries from workplace accidents
- give a prepared story which is very similar to stories given by other children.
